Joshua 1:9 NIV - Have I not commanded you? Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid; do not be discouraged, for the Lord your God will be with you wherever you go.

... and were preaching the gospel to many villages of the Samaritans. But an angel of the Lord spoke to Philip saying, "Arise and go south to the road that descends from Jerusalem to Gaza." (This is a desert road). Acts 8:25B -26

We know the story of Philip and the Ethiopian eunuch, right? Philip is called by the spirit of God to approach the eunuch, who happens to be reading from the book of Isaiah. A brief conversation ensues and the eunuch—amazingly—wants to be baptized and join Jesus' family of followers.

It's a great story of Philip hearing from an angel, then obeying the prompting of the spirit.

But what happens before this episode may be more important than we might think. Isn't it interesting that just before the angel speaks to Philip, the apostles and crew were sharing the good news with Samaritans?

Remember, Samaritans were the Jewish outliers. "Good" Jews didn't talk to Samaritans. We know Jesus certainly did—the story of the Woman at the Well proves this—but a wall existed between mainstream Jews and the Samaritan people.

Yet in Acts 8, we see Philip and his group following the heart of Jesus, spending time in "the city of Samaria (Acts 8:5)," where Philip not only preached openly, but performed signs and miracles as well (Acts 8:6).

Clearly, Philip understood, the good news is for everyone. He started with the Samaritans—just like Jesus.

So, is it any wonder that an angel—knowing Philip's heart—instructed him to take a next step and "go south to the road that descends from Jerusalem to Gaza?"

This was a desert road, likely not easy to traverse. But Philip, with a heart for sharing good news with anyone, said, "Yes." On the road, he met the Ethiopian eunuch, a court official and keeper of the queen's treasure.

Next, the spirit prompts him to approach the eunuch (a bold step for someone of Philip's "lower" stature) and Philip obeys, leading to the surprising—and quick—conversion of the eunuch.

This one moment in history opened the door to the good news being spread across Africa.

Philip's story is encouragement for all of us. Philip didn't have to create a plan to reach Africa. All he needed was a heart to reach all people. From there, perhaps God smiled and said, "He gets it," sending the angel to help Philip take the next step, opening new doors for the good news.

Let's use Philip's story to take heart, knowing that if our hearts are in the right place, God can always do the rest.

In the Spotlight

Nancy Napier and Inger Schultz

Last month Nancy Napier and Inger Schultz came on staff at RPCC to work in the office. Nancy has been volunteering at RPCC for nearly 6 years and will now be the friendly one greeting women in the office and others on the phone. Inger has been volunteering for 1 1/2 years and will be assisting with our fundraising and other events. We are confident their gifts and talents will certainly benefit the mothers and babies of our community.

Mike Williams' humorous presentation will leave every listener feeling encouraged and empowered to make a difference. We are looking forward to holding our event on campus at Mountain View Community Church. Watch for all the details as the date gets closer.

We are over the top thankful and encouraged by the results of our Walk For Life on April 10th. Even with changing the location of our Walk For Life just five days before the event, we had a fabulous turnout. It was a new experience for families and supporters to do the 1 mile walk right there on the campus. We heard many say they loved being able to see all their friends as they walked around the track. There were new games for the children and an amazing silent auction. Everyone enjoyed the fruit smoothies. The total received, $96,000 exceeded last year's total by $40,000, all of which will be used to serve women and children, and proved our community believes in protecting those who have no voice to cry out for themselves. Thanks for being a part of this powerful event!

If you want to take a trip back in time to the 1960s and 1970s to learn how the Supreme Court legalized abortion nationwide – and subsequently ignited a culture war, then make sure to see the 2021 film, Roe V. Wade. It shows how supporters of abortion rights developed their legal case and how the pro-life community tried to counter it. There are multiple twists and turns and viewers will be surprised to learn about all the family members of the justices connected to Planned Parenthood. There are arguments presented from both sides. After the credits, do your own research and you'll find the facts presented are true.
